

Metal

Metal mosaics reflect lifestyle as much as colour and should be used with confidence.

The polished stainless steel reflects light and colour and looks good alongside vivid hues and stunning against plain white. By contrast the brushed satin effects soften reflections and are perfectly at home with natural, treated wood or highly glazed ceramic surfaces. In a world of decorative minimalism, where less is more, metal mosaics are - more or less - indispensable in the creation of understated wow!

Metal Mosaics

These are exactly what they say they are. Not metallic effects on glass or ceramic but the real McCoy. Welcome to the 21st Century with a range of metal mosaics in shiny polished stainless steel and satin brushed finishes that are simply stunning to look at. Use these clean, bold mosaics confidently to offset or complement any stone, brick or ceramic wall or work surface.

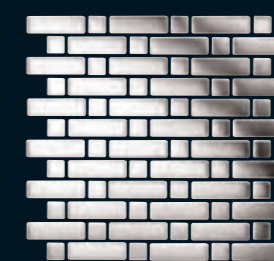

Please note: because of their metallic nature you should ensure a qualified electrician carries out all electrical work around metal mosaics.
